Approximately 375 couples attended the annual dance at which the orchestra of Claude Thornhill played.

Eyas Is Approved By Students; Second Issue On Sale In May

The second issue of Eyas, campus literary magazine, is scheduled to appear late in May, reports Mary Jeanne Connelly, editor of the publication.

Deadline for student contributions has been tentatively set at the spring recess this semester, said Miss Connelly, although manuscripts will be accepted until the magazine goes to the printers.

Eyas, which means "baby falcons," is made up entirely of student-written short stories, poetry, essays, and book reports. Student contributions should be sent to the magazine at the English Bldg., or merely dropped off there. Campus mail may be used.

The manuscripts are considered by an editorial board composed of the editors of the Eyas, and Dr. Richard C. Carpenter, adviser to the group. Notice of acceptance or rejection is made promptly to the student, said Miss Connelly.

First Issue Approved
This year's first issue of Eyas, campus literary magazine, has met with wide approval, as witnessed by a brief survey of faculty and student readers.

Said Dr. Richard C. Carpenter, faculty adviser to the magazine staff, "The editors attempted to create a wide variety in the content of this issue. I, for one, am well satisfied."

"The editors and contributors may be justly proud," commented Dr. Giles R. Floyd, associate professor of English.

Some typical student comments were as follows:

Jane Flemming, senior: "I especially liked the poetry."

Jack Blum, junior: "It's too bad it's not a weekly. Excellent reading and a fine opportunity for beginning writers."

One devotee of the magazine, a February graduate, wrote to request a copy to send to his home in Jamestown, New York.

Summer Students, Seniors To Register

Pre-registration for the summer sessions and the first semester 1954-55, begins Monday, March 29, for students who expect to graduate in August, 1954, February, 1955, June, 1955, or August, 1955, said Glenn I. Van Wormer, registrar.

All juniors should make an appointment with their college dean between March 29 and April 13. Juniors enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts also should make an appointment with their advisers during this period. Juniors majoring in music in the College of Education should see Prof. Merrill C. McEwen prior to an appointment with the Dean of the College of Education.

Students in other classes will meet with their advisers from April 22 to May 13. Completed schedule envelopes are to be submitted to the registrar's office during the pre-registration period.

Miss Bee Gee Photos Soon Will Be Judged

Candidates for Miss Bee Gee have been selected by sororities and dormitories. Their pictures will soon be sent to the U-A prom bandleader for judging.

Miss Bee Gee will be chosen from among the following women students: Anne Hopkins, Kohl Hall; Diane Stoffer, Shatzel Hall; Marilyn Sutherland, Williams Hall; Jean Barany, Alpha Chi Omega; June Brackney, Alpha Delta Pi; Judy Borman, Alpha Gamma Delta; Lynn Paulhus, Alpha Phi; Jane Nicholson, Alpha Xi Delta; Deloris Lehman, Chi Omega.

Andrea Robbins, Delta Gamma; Martha Ruck, Delta Zeta; Elynn Bowen, Gamma Phi Beta; Shirley Davis, Kappa Delta; Virginia Pierce, Phi Mu.

Plans are tentatively being made to introduce all the candidates at the U-A Prom with the bandleader announcing the winner and her attendants, according to Stanley Kutler, chairman of the contest.

Kutler said the coronation will be planned around the theme of the dance. Pictures will be sent in soon, but the winner will not be announced until the dance.

Mystery Is Solved At IFC Meeting

The vending machine mystery was finally solved at Interfraternity Council meeting Wednesday night.

There had been a recent controversy on why the vending machines (cigarette and candy) were taken out of fraternity houses by the company which had installed them. "The reason that they were being taken out was because the University did not know they were there, and hadn't approved them," stated Ervin Kreisher, University business manager.

However, the company has now contacted the University and the situation has been "ironed out." Additional vending machines may even be added to fraternity houses, IFC councilmen stated.

Treble Clef To Make Tour Of Eastern States

The annual Treble Clef tour will start this year on April 29, with the opening concert in Willoughby. From there the group will cross New York State to the metropolitan area where they will have a free night to spend in the city.

Concerts also will be presented in Vermont, New Hampshire, and Connecticut. One of the highlights of the tour will be a concert at the McGuire Air Force Base in Trenton, on May 8.

The last performance of the trip will be in Havertown, Pa. Havertown is the home of Julie Moffett, business manager of Treble Clef.

Approximately 50 girls will be making the trip by bus and car. Tryouts for altos will start Thursday.

Applications For Huron Playhouse Due April 21

Applications for the Huron Playhouse are now being accepted in the speech office in the Gate Theatre, said Dr. Elden T. Smith, chairman of the speech department.

Applications may be obtained in the speech office or from Dr. Smith. Deadline for applications is April 21.

The Playhouse which is located at Huron will be in its sixth season, which will run from June 21 to Aug. 21.

Room and board for the eight-week session is $200. Registration fees for the summer session course work are $26.50 for residents of Ohio and $63.75 for out of state students.

Dr. Smith said that along with the experience gained, nine semester hours of credit may be earned in specially offered courses. Some of the eight courses offered are acting 241, directing 341, and advanced dramatic production 446.

Since Bowling Green State University is accredited by the North Central Association, these credits are transferable to most colleges and universities.

The staff will include Dr. Smith, Prof. John H. Hepler, Dr. Donald C. Kleckner, and Prof. F. Lee Miesle.

Last summer more than 8,000 persons within a 50-mile radius attended the six shows.

Dr. Smith said that anyone who is a graduate of an accredited high school may apply. Last summer more than 95 per cent of the acting parts were taken by students. This year a maximum of 30 applications will be accepted for the session.

The formal class work and lectures are thoroughly integrated with production phases of the theater organization. In the eight-week period every student will be involved in some phase of production.

The Playhouse leases two summer homes which serve as dormitories, and meals are prepared by an experienced cook, Dr. Smith said. Swimming, boating, and other summer sports are included in the recreational program.

Further information can be obtained from Dr. Smith or at the speech office in the Gate Theatre.

Indiana Folklore Is Program Series

This week's "Folklore of Indiana" program, entitled "Railroad at Bloomington," will be heard this evening at 7 over University radio station WBGU.

According to Sidney C. Stone, station director, each program consists of a visit to an Indiana community at one time representative of a particular culture, which to some extent still retains some of its old customs. Emphasis is placed on stories and beliefs, but musical material is included.

This is the twelfth program in the series which concludes next week with a story entitled, "Yugoslavian at Gary."

Professors Attend Spring Conference

Dr. Ralph L. Beck and Dr. Charles W. Young of the education department, attended the spring conference of the Ohio Unit of the Association of Student Teachers, March 19 and 20, at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Saturday afternoon, Dr. Young led a group discussion on problems relating to the supervision of student teaching.

Tryouts For 'Liliom' To Begin Tonight

Tryouts for "Liliom," major University Theater production to be presented May 6-8, will be held tonight and tomorrow night in the Gate Theatre at 7 p. m.

Tryouts for the play, a charming romantic fantasy by Hungarian-American Ferenc Molnar, are open to anyone.

There are approximately 15 speaking parts and 30 non-speaking parts open for the play.

Dr. Donald C. Kleckner, assistant of speech, will direct.

dents on the award list this year. The selection of Slough is outstanding recognition of his ability and also recognition of the prestige of the science division, especially the geology department, Dean Kenneth H. McFall stated.

The scholarships are for $1,400 for the first year of graduate study in any accredited university the recipient chooses.

Another student, Betty L. Bernhardt, a senior mathematics major, received honorable mention from the Foundation.

Greeks Pay $1,500 For Popular Band

Billy May's recording orchestra, featuring Sam Donahue and song stylist, April Ames, has signed a $1,500 contract to play at the Greek Week dance April 2, Sandra Traver and William Melvin, co-chairmen of Greek Week announced last Friday.

This popular college band will perform from 9 to 12 p. m. in the Men's Gym as a climax of the week devoted to fraternity and sorority events.

Donahue, one of the country's leading tenor saxophone players, leads the 16-piece ensemble. May no longer travels with the group, but remains in Hollywood to make musical arrangements for the band's Capitol recordings. He maintains supervision and oversees arrangements while the orchestra is on the road.

Has Fresh Approach

Features of this band which enjoyed a rapid rise to public acclaim in less than two years are its "fresh approach" to music and the unusual sounds of the "slurping saxes." Both these musical twists have contributed to the campus popularity of the group.

Sam Donahue was born in Detroit, and while attending Redford High School he excelled in football, baseball, and basketball, while at that time music was just a hobby to him. But he started his first band while he was a sophomore, and from that time on he was so busy with his band that he had little time for sports.

Top Tenor Sax Man

In 1938 Donahue joined the Gene Krupa band, two years later he went with Harry James, and later that year he joined Benny Goodman. By that time he was one of the top tenor-men in the nation.

Donahue formed his own band in 1941 and seemed set for a long and successful stay at Glen Island until the Navy called him for military service.

In the service, Donahue had his own orchestra and was featured on service programs such as Yank Bandstand and Bands for Bonds.

When the war ended, Donahue again organized his own band and things were going along pretty well, until the Korean war broke out and he was called back to active duty.

Assisted Dorsey

After his second discharge, Donahue joined the Tommy Dorsey band as assistant leader, but for the past 22 months, he has been with the Billy May Orchestra.

Miss Ames, a 20-year old torch singer, was featured vocalist with the Harry James' traveling band for eight months before accepting the top singing spot with the Mry orchestra.

The band's most recent engagements were at the University of Michigan and the Rainbow Gardens near Fremont. May's orchestra appeared at the University two years ago for Greek Week. Miss Traver stated that the student response was very enthusiastic and the committee was pleased to re-engage the band.

The booking was made by Melvin through General Artists Corp.

Four Attend Purdue Meet March 19-20

Drs. Charles G. Swanson, Samuel H. Lowrie, Donald S. Longworth, and O. Norman Simpkins, of the sociology department, attended a combined meeting March 19 and 20 at the Memorial Union Bldg. at Purdue University.

The combined meeting consists of the sixteenth annual meeting of the Ohio Valley Sociology Society and the thirtieth annual meeting of the Central States Anthropological Society.

Worth Consideration

In recent weeks a great deal of talk has been flowing over the campus concerning the possibility of having a jazz concert by well-known jazz artists at Bowling Green next year. An informal poll showed that four out of five students were in favor of such an event.

When considering the feasibility of the idea the first thing we thought of was the possibility of scheduling a jazz concert as a part of the Artist Series. Merrill C. McEwen, chairman of the Artist Series committee, said he did not feel a jazz concert would be scheduled as a part of this program. The reason he gave was that he doesn't consider jazz art. A few other members of the committee said they were willing to consider the idea.

The reason we would pick the Artist Series to place a jazz program under is because it would logically fit there. Furthermore, the Artist Series committee is the only University committee that could ask for the funds for such a program, and possibly get them. The committee recently dropped the number of programs from eight to six, so that more money could be allocated to each program.

If there is any possibility of enlarging the Artist Series program to include a jazz program, it should be considered. Opinion which we have heard seems to indicate that such a program is favored by many.

We suggest that members of the Artist Series committee investigate the popularity of such a program thoroughly. If the committee should find that a top jazz band would be popular, we feel sure that the committee would give the idea full consideration.

Disconcerting Note

The newspaper stories of H-bomb tests and results sounded a sombre note for the entire world, leaving most of us wondering just how far man can go before annihilating himself.

Stories reported that the bomb equalled 15 million tons of TNT, that it is probably 1,000 times more powerful than the A-bombs of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. This latest thermonuclear weapon could destroy all life in an area of 500 square miles, and inflict severe burns at a distance of 50 to 60 miles. There were also reports that a second H-bomb, 10 times more powerful than the March 1 blast, is to be set off in April.

All this is disconcerting to any thinking person. It is especially so to this college generation, which may have to solve the problem of what to do with such unbelievable weapons. That is, if we live that long.

Lines at Deadline

An editorial in a recent Kent Stater reminded us of a once too-familiar situation on this campus. Kent is having trouble with its registration program. Under a new system Kent students enroll for 400 courses one day, 300 courses the next, and so on. The editorial said this method was designed to speed up the process and prevent students from trying to register in advance. However, some of the University departments allowed some students to register early, so that the classes were sometimes filled when they officially were just opening.

Youngsters on campus won't remember the confused registration system we once had on this campus. When it came time for second-semester registration, each department set up a table in the women's gym, manned by several department faculty members. At 3 p. m. on the specified day, the entire student body stampeded into the gym, all heading for various tables, to pick up class cards for the courses they wanted.

The trick was to decide which classes were most imperative to get first, and then get there ahead of the mob. By the time you waited in line for one card, other eager students had snapped up class cards for other courses you had planned to take.

You generally found at least one class closed, and either settled for a different section, or a completely different class.

The system was quite frustrating—if you stood in one line, the one for another class you wanted always moved faster. If you took a chance and changed, some difficult student ahead of you held things up while he made up his mind.

And they long for the good old days!

The Shady Corner

A grave digger got so absorbed in his thoughts that he dug the grave so deep he couldn't get out.

Came nightfall and the evening chill, his predicament became more and more uncomfortable. He shouted for help and at last attracted the attention of a drunk. "Get me outta here," he shouted. "I'm cold."

The drunk looked into the grave and finally distinguished the form of the uncomfortable grave digger. "No wonder you're cold," he said. "You haven't any dirt on you!"

Patricia Vietmeier, left, and Mary Humphries have been appointed 1955 Key editor and business manager, respectively, by the Publications Committee.

Miss Vietmeier is a junior majoring in elementary education. She holds the position of engravings editor on this year's Key, and has served in other staff positions.

The business manager's position is a re-appointment for Miss Humphries, who holds the job on the 1954 Key, which will be distributed sometime in May.

The two women were selected from a field of applicants who were interviewed by the publications committee.

Committee Named To Plan For 1954 Fall Orientation

A committee of administrative officials, faculty members, and student representatives, has been organized to evaluate and discuss plans for the 1954 fall orientation program, stated Ralph H. Geer, director of admissions.

The committee includes Deans Ralph G. Harshman, Kenneth H. McFall, Herschel Litherland, Benjamin L. Pierce, Arch B. Conklin, Florence K. Currier, and administration representatives Ralph H. Geer, Glenn I. Van Wormer, Stuart R. Givens, and Mrs. Jane D. Igou.

Dr. Ralph L. Beck, Prof. Jesse J. Currier, and Dr. Donald C. Kleckner, represent the faculty, and Carol Payne, Brad Greenberg, George Howick, Maxine Brown, Richard Mahoney, and Sally Schmidt are the student representatives.

This committee will analyze the questionnaire sent out last fall to question freshmen and transfer students regarding what they liked and disliked about the orientation week program. The response to these inquiries was almost 100 per cent, and these replies coupled with faculty, administrative, and student suggestions will go to make up the 1954 fall orientation program.

Mrs. Samuel Lowrie To Speak At Chapel

"Adjustment or Compromise" is the subject of a talk by Mrs. Samuel H. Lowrie for the service tomorrow afternoon at 4 p. m. in Prout Chapel, according to Shirley Nelson, worship chairman.

Mrs. Lowrie is the wife of Dr. Samuel H. Lowrie, professor of sociology. Musical selections will include a solo by Robert Feller, entitled "The Holy City."

Official Announcements

Students in the College of Business Administration who expect to graduate in August 1954, February or June, 1955, should each make an appointment soon for a conference, between March 29 and April 13, with the dean of the college for pre-registration for the summer session and/or the fall semester of next year.

Life Saving and Water Safety Instructor course (H.P.E. 332) will begin Tuesday, March 23.

All candidates should be ready for water work at 6:30 p.m.

Blore Represents BG In National Advertising Group

Raymond E. Blore, senior, has been selected as the student to represent Bowling Green in the national contest to choose the outstanding advertising student in America. It is conducted by the Association of Advertising Men and Women, which operates out of New York City.

Approximately 50 top advertising students will represent their school or university during the week in New York City. Advertising companies and organizations representing all phases of advertising will show the students "inside advertising" through a series of conferences, tours, lunches, and dinners. The award will be made to one of these students.

Basis for the Outstanding Student Award will be two-fold: a special committee will report its observations of the students during the week, and a written report students are required to give to their student bodies.

Prizes attached to the award consist of: a $100 prize to the winning student's university to further the advertising profession, plaques to both the school and student, plus other suitable honors for the student. This inside advertising week will be from April 18-23.

Plan To Stay In College? Try These Eleven Helpful Hints

Suggestion from Robert Tyson, Hunter College, New York, department of psychology, on how to stay in college.

1. Bringing the professor newspaper clippings dealing with his subject demonstrates your interest and gives him timely items to mention in class. Failing to find clippings with his subject, bring in any clippings at random. He thinks everything deals with his subject.

2. Look alert. Take notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't stare at it unbelievably and shake it.

3. Nod frequently and murmur, "how true!" May seem exaggerated, but to him it's quite objective.

4. Sit in front, near the professor. (Applies only if you intend to stay awake.) If you're going to all the trouble to make an impression, you might as well let him know you are, especially in a large class.

5. Laugh at his jokes. You can tell—if he looks up from his notes and smiles expectantly, he's told a joke.

6. Ask for outside reading. You don't have to read it. Just ask.

7. If you must sleep, arrange to be called at the end of the hour. It creates an unfavorable impression if the rest of the class has left and you sit there alone, dozing.

8. Be sure the book you read during the lecture looks like a book for the course. If you do math in psychology class and psychology in math class, match books for size and color.

9. Ask any question you think he can answer. Conversely, avoid announcing that you have found the answer to a question he couldn't answer, and in your brother's second grade reader at that.

10. Call attention to his writing. Produces an exquisitely pleasant experience connected with you. If you know he's written a book or an article, ask in class if he wrote it.

11. As to whether you want to do some work in addition to all this, well, it's controversial and up to the individual.

Jacobs Is Awarded Graduate Assistantship

Charles E. Jacobs, senior from Pittsburgh, Pa., has been awarded a graduate assistantship in marketing at Indiana University, Bloomington, for 1954-55, announced Prof. Lewis F. Manhart, associate professor of business administration.

Jacobs will enroll in the master of business administration program at Indiana.

Splashers Win In Swimming Meet

Splashers, women's speed swimming and diving team, beat Ohio Wesleyan and Denison, Saturday, March 14, at Ohio Wesleyan University, announced Miss Dorothy Luedtke, of the women's physical education department.

The final scores were: Bowling Green 79, Denison 48, and Ohio Wesleyan 47. The Splashers took 7 events and tied another out of the 10 competitions in the meet.

Susan Mignerey won the 25-yard and the 50-yard freestyle. Fran Isch won the 50-yard breaststroke and tied for first place in the 25-yard breaststroke. In the 25-yard backstroke, Beverly Eden came in first.

Susan Disney took first place in the diving competition. The Splashers also took two team events, the 75-yard medley relay and the 100-yard free style relay.

The second places taken by the Splashers were the 25-yard freestyle by Shirley Browning, and the 75-yard individual medley by Connie Wood.

Phyllis Vredenburgh took two third places, one in the 25-yard breaststroke and the other in the 50-yard breaststroke.

Falcons Meet Wayne In Diamond Opener

Blue skies and warmer weather enabled Coach Warren E. Steller to get the Falcon baseball team outside for light workouts last week for the first time, after several weeks of indoor practices.

Although it is far too early for Coach Steller to name his starting lineup, six returning lettermen will undoubtedly be the core of this year's team. Gene Bunker, Wally Server, Phil Seker, Ronald Penkoff, Al Ikeda, and Chuck Hunter all were instrumental in gaining a third place for Bowling Green in the tough Mid-American Conference last year. Ikeda, who suffered a broken thumb last year and missed many of the games, has fully recovered and should be very valuable again this year as he was two years ago.

A 16-game schedule, which is not complete at this time, is being planned. It is known that the Falcons will play 10 conference games. They will play two games each with Toledo, Western Michigan, Western Reserve, Kent State, and Marshall. The season will get under way, weather permitting, with a home game against Wayne University of Detroit, Friday, April 9.

"We should be able to come up with a fairly respectable team, with our toughest competition coming from Western Michigan and Ohio U., who place much more emphasis on baseball than we do here," said Coach Steller.

Golf, Tennis Teams Begin Practice

The first meeting of the Falcon golf team was held yesterday. Coach Don Cunningham's squad will be bolstered by four returning lettermen including Dave Slough, Jim Dysinger, Dick Rodney, and Virgil English. Also returning will be Paul Fisher, who saw some action last season. "Until we get some warmer weather so the team can get out on the course, we won't be able to make any predictions on the kind of season we'll have," said Coach Cunningham.

Bowling Green's tennis hopefuls are holding light practices in the Men's Gym each Saturday morning, according to Coach Charles Johnson. Prospects look good with Al Bianchi, Manny Koginos, and Don Jones back from last season. Ron Fulgenzi, up from the freshman squad, and Bill Griffiths, a transfer student, are expected to augment the team. Official practice is tentatively set to begin April 11.

Smith Wins Intramural Table Tennis Crown

Paul Smith, senior, won the intramural table tennis tournament by downing all opponents, and last Thursday afternoon, finally capped the singles-division championship crown, in the Men's Gym.

The tournament started nearly three weeks ago with 42 men entering to try their pin-pong paddle skills. Lee Pate, graduate assistant in physical education, is director of the table tennis tournaments. The consolation tournament is still in progress, and the doubles - division tournament is just getting under way.

Smith won the first 10 consecutive games, but the string was finally broken in the semi-finals by Ron Fulgenzi, freshman, who won the third game out of four.

One other game was lost by Smith, and this was in the final contest with Robert Lampert, sophomore, who beat him in a close battle in the second of four games.

'Normals' Revolt, Take New Name Of Falcons In 1927

By DALLAS BRIM

When someone speaks of Falcons on the Bowling Green campus today, we immediately think of one of our athletic teams. How did we come to get the name of a scavenger bird that was used in sport more than 3,000 years ago?

In 1927 when Bowling Green was in its youth, the athletic teams were called everything from "Normals" to "Teachers."

Students didn't really care for any of these names, but no one seemed able to come up with an appropriate substitute.

However, an alumnus, Ivan "Doc" Lake had been thinking about this problem for quite some time and had been doing a little research trying to find a symbol that would represent power, courage, and skill, and had a punch to it. He came up with the name "Falcons."

Falcons Are Birds

In his research, "Doc" found that falcons are birds that go through a period of extensive training for their battles, in which the "coaches" start them in the lowest fundamentals and train them until they become finished fighters. He found that the falcons had all the requisites of sportsmanship; they were powerful, skillful, enduring, and determined in their purpose.

"Doc" also found that certain species of falcons had a brown plumage, and since one of the school's colors was dark brown, this was the clincher to the adoption of the name.

The nickname "Falcons" caught hold immediately. Students at Bowling Green finally had a name for their teams and the players got rid of the letter "N" which had adorned their jerseys. The name was being said all over campus as well as in town, and everyone was proud of it.

Mispronouncing Name

However, it seems that even though the name had taken hold, many people had been mispronouncing it.

About a week after the nickname was initiated, an article was published in the Bowling Green Sentinel - Tribune explaining the correct pronunciation. This article read as follows:

"Falcon is given two correct pronunciations. Webster gives one which is preferred and another which is correct, but second choice."

"... The first choice is Faw kin with the accent on the first syllable. The second choice is Fowl kn with the accent still on the first part of the word. It will be noticed that the preferred pronunciation does not pay any attention to the "L" but rather glides over it." Showing how much spirit had already arisen from the name, the article went on to add: "Probably Webster knows that there is plenty of 'L' in the Falcon without pronouncing it!"

"Fahlk unz"

It is hoped that this explanation will help a lot of students who still say "Fahlk unz," pronouncing the "a" like the "a" in "fast."

The Falcon nickname grew on the students at Bowling Green, and it was attached to other things as well as the athletic teams. When the student union was built on campus they called it "The Falcons Nest." Also, in 1938, the "Bee Gee News" took a vote on changing the name of the paper. The ideas for a new name were left up to the student body, and many names were submitted. The name that won was "The Falconian." However, it ran that way for only five issues and then was changed back to "The Bee Gee News," since that name had been a tradition since 1920.

Today the name "Falcons" has gained national prominence in the world of sports. It is the nickname for a basketball team that plays some of the best teams in the nation, a football team that is in good running in the MAC, and other teams of nearly equal prominence in their field. The name "Falcons" has grown to mean a lot to the students at Bowling Green, and, as Mr. Lake said once: "Bowling Green should be proud of a name like that!"

Phi Tau, Falcon Hall, Take Crowns In Basketball

Champions were decided in both the independent and interfraternity basketball leagues last week as Phi Kappa Tau defeated Theta Chi for the fraternity championship on Wednesday evening, and Falcon Hall downed the Wildmen on Tuesday night, to clinch independent honors for the season.

The Phi Taus, League I champions during the regular season, depended mainly on the 1-2 scoring punch of Ernest Hahn and Lowell Rager to outscore the League II champion Theta Chi's 28-22.

Hahn, who was interfraternity league scoring champion this season with 42 points, put in 12 points during the contest while his teammate, Rager, who was third in over-all scoring, accounted for six. Gene Walters kept the Theta Chi's in the ball game throughout the evening as he scored 11 points. Bill Havens followed Winters in scoring as he managed seven points for the losing Theta Chi cause.

Falcon Hall climaxed an unbeaten season Tuesday, as they defeated the Wildmen 28-17 in the championship game.

Dick Gwin and Tom McIntire were the scoring leaders for the new champions as both finished the game with 9 points. Walt Duricy and Herbert Moorehead led the Wildmen with seven and six points respectively.

Ernest Hahn of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity and Don Good of the Emanon's independent basketball team were scoring champions of the interfraternity and independent basketball leagues, the past season, Dave Matthews, director of Mens' Intramurals, announced last week.

Hahn, who played center on Phi Tau's championship team, scored 42 points during the season—12 more than Phil Aseltine of Alpha Tau Omega who finished second. Rounding out the top five fraternity scorers are Lowell Rager, Phi Kappa Tau, third with 28 points; Chuck Hunter, Sigma Nu, fourth with 25; and Mel Birnbaum, Zeta Beta Tau, and Bill Havens, Theta Chi, tied for fifth with 24 points each.

Good, with 52 points, was well ahead of Falcon Hall's Dick Gwin who was second with 39. Following Gwin in the independent scoring race were Bill Stubbs of Falcon Hall with 33 points; Carl Masling, Celtics, 31; and Joe Decker, Falcon Hall, 28.

Saturday Marks Half Way Point In Semester

According to the University Catalog, the mid-point in the semester will be reached on Saturday, March 27. There will be no official announcement of the fact.

The policy of the University in the past has been to take no special time out of regular classes for exams. Any exams given are up to the discretion of the individual instructors.

PiKA Retains Lead In Fraternity Bowling

On the fraternity bowling scene this week, only two matches were held. Sigma Phi Epsilon downed Sigma Alpha Epsilon 2-1 in its match. In the other match, Phi Kappa Tau decisively beat Theta Chi 3-0. Mark Barnhill of Phi Tau posted the afternoon's best score with 505.

Pi Kappa Alpha still remains on top of the fraternity standings.

In Friday evening's bowling league action the last place Phi Psi team dropped the league leading Pi Kappa Alpha five one out of three, while the Sigma Alpha Epsilon outfit was increasing its lead for second place over the Phi Kappa Taus by taking two of three from them. Sigma Phi Epsilon took three from Theta Chi, and the Sigma Nu team drew a bye for three points.

Bianchi Returns To Garden In All-Star Game Saturday

One more honor has been added to Al Bianchi's already long list. Al has been selected to play in the annual East-West all-star game in Madison Square Garden on Saturday.

The game, sponsored by the New York Herald-Tribune, will be for the purpose of raising money for the "fresh air fund." Bianchi will be playing for the West under coach Ozzie Cowles.

This will be Bianchi's second appearance in the classic. When he was a senior in high school he played with the New York City all-star team in the preliminary to the East-West game.

Bianchi will be teaming up with such outstanding players as Indiana's Lenord and Kraek, Minnesota's Kalafat, Oklahoma City's Short, and Southern California's Launce.

Bianchi will be the third representative that Bowling Green has placed in the all-star game. Charlie Share and Don Otten both participated, Share playing for the East and Otten for the West.

Bianchi was chosen to three All-American honorable mention teams, International News Service, United Press, and Collier's magazine. INS named Bianchi as the outstanding player in Ohio, thus polling him over the fabulous Bevo Francis of Rio Grande.

Bianchi racked up 1,487 points while in a Falcon uniform, just 8 points shy of Jim Gerber's 1,495. Charlie Share still holds the all-time record, scoring 1,730 points for four years.

Bianchi banged out a new field goal record this year with 226, breaking Gerber's old record by 5 goals. The 25-point season scoring average turned in by Bianchi also breaks any old records that existed.

This all boils down to a great career for a great player. Al Bianchi exhibited some sparkling basketball that will long be remembered by those who saw him play, and told and retold to those who haven't.
